

HE GOUGED OUT HER EYES.

THE HORRIBLY BRUTAL ACT OF AN INSANE
NEW JERSEY MAN.

Mrs. Louis Lambkin Chased, Knocked Down and Fiercely Assaulted by Charles
Walter—Her Crazy Assailant Secured
After a Desperate Struggle and Locked Up at New Brunswick,

Mrs. Louis Lambkin, wife of a German living in Jacksonville, N. J., in the locality known as "Cheesecake," was startled late on Saturday night by the sudden appearance in her house of a large, fierce man, with wild eyes and a heavy sandy mustache.

The man sprang towards her but she avoided him and, stopping only with a mother's instinct to seize her two children, fled from the house. She was pursued by the man and, being retarded by the weight of the children, was overtaken before reaching the nearest neighbor's place.

Knocking the woman down, as he caught her up with her, the pursuing man fell upon her and began to pucker savagely at her eyes with his finger-nails. Mrs. Lambkin resisted a moment as she was able, getting one of her assailant's hands in her mouth and biting it. She screamed loudly, too, and attracted the attention of a number of the men who were possible to her rescue. Before they reached the scene of the struggle, however, the brute had succeeded in gouging out one eye completely, and injuring the other so that there is only a faint hope of the sight being partially restored.

The assailant of the woman, after a desperate struggle, was bound securely in ropes.

Walter was taken to New Brunswick, where he was housed in a rooming house. He was soon attacked by a severe cold, which he attributed to the cold air. He was given medicine and rest, but the cold did not improve. He was then taken to a hospital, where he was treated for a long time. He was finally discharged, but he was still very weak and had a great deal of trouble in getting on his feet. He was then taken to a sanatorium, where he was treated for a long time. He was finally discharged, but he was still very weak and had a great deal of trouble in getting on his feet. He was then taken to a sanatorium, where he was treated for a long time. He was finally discharged, but he was still very weak and had a great deal of trouble in getting on his feet.

A BARKEEPERS' SNUGGERY.
New Quarters of the Liberal Brotherhood
Over the Broadway Theatre.

As snug as a bug in a rug are the new quarters of the Liberal Brotherhood, located in the Broadway Theatre Building.

A swift elevator carries you up to the floor where their rooms are, and under the care of Janitor Michael Cogan you make yourself perfectly at home, for the Liberal Brotherhood is composed entirely of gentlemen bachelors.

An EVENING WORLD reporter who called on them the other day was ushered into a cool and cosy reception-room in which there are plenty of comfortable, easy chairs. The room boasted files of newspapers, writing desks, a pretty patterned red carpet and wallpaper with fantastic figures.

The room adjoining this is the "Hall of low well met" apartment. This does not mean that wild orgies take place therein for they do not. It is merely a room fitted with a combination billiard and pool table and a wee sideboard which accommodates only the choicest of wet goods, the money paid for which goes to the benefit of a fund which owns a couple of beds in St. Vincent's Hospital and has done much good in helping along the unfortunates in the Brotherhood. As a result of this system there is plenty of money in the treasury, and any member who has been out of work and needs a suit of clothes

The Brotherhood now numbers 200 members. E. H. Ferguson is President; J. Campbell, who presides over the bar at the Union League Club, is Secretary, and James Delehay, of the Café Savarin, is Treasurer.

Oriental Hotel; Arthur Jewett, of the Manhattan Beach Hotel; Fred Kaiser, of the Union Club; J. Lyons, of the Café Savard; H. C. Christian, located at Sheephead Bay; J. F. Irish, of the the Manhattan Club bar; L. Stern, J. C. Maher and Thomas Manning.

FREE DOCTORS FOR THE POOR.

Board of Health Physicians Who Prescribe

and Give St. Nicholas Cream and St. Nicholas Cream

The summer corps consisting of fifty trained physicians will start on their work by visiting tenement-houses on Wednesday. The Board of Health has ordered the vacinating corps to attend to their labor with love, and Dr. Cyrus Edson has districted the city so that no tenement-house shall be neglected.

In addition to caring for the weak and sickly ones the corps must report defective drainage and ventilation and filthy surroundings so as to hold owners and agents responsible for their delinquencies.

Dr. Edison wishes to impress upon the people of the city that in every police precinct is a physician who will administer to the sick at all hours free of charge. By visiting the nearest police station and making the facts known, a physician can be secured.

His services are paid for by the board of health.

The medicine can be secured on a prescription from the physicians of the summer colony at any of the city dispensaries.

Settled Long Ago.

[From the New Orleans Picayune.]

Iced coffee is said to be gaining ground as a beverage.—Nashville American. It was settled long ago that coffee needs no more grounds.

Health and Strength

If you feel tired, weak, worn out, or run down from hard work, by impoverished condition of the blood, low state of the system, you should take Hood's Sarsaparilla. The peculiar toning, purifying and vitalizing qualities of this successful medicine are soon felt throughout the entire system, expelling disease, and giving quick health action to every organ. It tones the stomach, creates an appetite, and rouses the liver and kidneys. Thousands testify that Hood's Sarsaparilla "makes the weak strong."

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"I have taken not quite a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and must say it is one of the best medicines I am giving an appetite, purifying the blood, and regulating the digestive organs that I ever heard of. It did me a deal of good." Mrs. N. A. STANLEY, Canastota, N. Y.

"I had salt rheum on my left arm three years, and

Makes the Weak Strong
"Feeling languid and dizzy, having no appetite, no ambition to work, I took Hood's Sarsaparilla with the best results. As a health invigorator and for general debility I think it superior to anything else." A. BROWN, Utica, N. Y.

HOOD'S Sarsaparilla
Sold by all druggists, 81; six for 85. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.
100 DOSES ONE DOLLAR